AVALANCHE EDUCATION

Our world-class avalanche instruction in accordance with cutting-edge curriculum standards, is offered at a variety of levels so as to reach people of all ages and abilities.

Most avalanche experts consider the unstable snowpack of the San Juan Mountains to be the most avalanche-prone in the country, and Colorado consistently leads the United States in the number of avalanche fatalities each year.

Our program is designed to prevent tragedy through intensive education efforts. Classes are taught by some of the country's finest Avalanche Forecasters, Professional Ski Patrollers, and Snow Science Experts.
